

Free ¡Cuídate! Training for Facilitators!

Dr. Antonia Villarruel, a developer of the ¡Cuídate! Curriculum, is currently seeking agencies to participate in our free web-based training.

The training is done in Second Life[®] in order to increase access to quality training. Second Life[®] is an online web-based environment where participants can learn and practice skills needed to implement ¡Cuídate!

To learn more about the free training visit: www.cuidate.nursing.umich.edu

¡Cuídate! Training Program Eligibility:

- Have access to a computer that will be used throughout the entire program
- High-speed internet access
- Commitment to participate in 3 Second Life[®] training sessions, as well as other web-based training-related activities
- Commit to implementing the program curriculum with adolescents at least twice within 6 months of completing the training

Why We Are Providing This Training:

- Our goal is to offer a more efficient, user-based way for individuals to be trained in ¡Cuídate! This is a research study that is funded by NIH Grant No. 1R21MH09572301A1

Benefits of the Training:

- Quality EBI training by Dr. Villarruel and other experienced trainers
- Free technical assistance
- Support to facilitate conducting training with adolescents (e.g. ¡Cuídate! Curriculum & Implementation Manual)
